If you need a head start in your career, then you not only have to learn the rules of the game very well, you also have to play exceedingly well! So, though an MBA ensures that career is on the fast track of growth, it's an international MBA that will keep you leaps bounds ahead of the others. And offering this international MBA programme is Jaro Education, which has designed its course in such a way that they will meet the needs of not just students and working executives, but also for entrepreneurs, businessmen, housewives, diploma holders/engineers with 2 years work experience. In fact, even an HSC pass who has 5 years work or business experience can apply for his programme.

NT speaks to Sanjay Salunkhe Director, Jaro Education who tells us why wanting to pursue a global career in management is not all that difficult

International MBA versus MBA

"International MBA is better because it boost not just domestic, but also international career growth. It grooms students, working executives, entrepreneurs and housewives for careers of increased responsibility with focus on understanding and learning international business strategies, culture and business environment. International MBA (1 year) through distance learning has 8 international subjects out of total 15, whereas domestic MBA has only 2-3 international subjects," he says. Noting further differences, he says, "In an international MBA programme students and working professionals are trained to work in domestic and international markets, whereas the domestic MBA focuses only on domestic industry needs. International faculties teach a few subjects thereby giving global exposure to students without leaving the country," he says. An international MBA programme is designed to provide knowledge of domestic and international management subjects, international business culture and environment, which help in securing good managerial jobs in India and overseas. Even MNC's operating in India opt for executives with knowledge and insight of international business culture and environment.

Multiple choices

Speaking about the various subjects, Sanjay says, "There's something for everybody's need. Marketing, HR, Finance, Operations, IT, Advertising & Media, Leadership & Entrepreneurship, General Mgmt, Pharmaceutical, Healthcare, Banking & Insurance, Supply Chain are some of the specialisations that one can follow. With multiple accreditations from recognised authorities like UKAS (The United Kingdom Accreditation Service), ASCB (E) (Accreditation Service for Certifying Bodies Europe Limited), JAS-ANZ (Joint Accreditation System of Australia and New Zealand) you can be sure that the course you choose will have a stamp of authenticity. With the Fee for International MBA (1 Year Duration) being Rs. 39,700 & for International Executive MBA (9 Months Duration) being Rs 37,500 and four batches beginning July, October, January and April, there's no stopping the desirous of pursuing the degree of your global dreams."
